FROM THE PAST, THROUGH THE PRESENT, FOR THE FUTURE

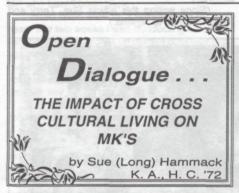

Volume 10 Number 1

From the Editor ...

Dear Friends,

What a group! You've done it again. Thank you to those who have responded to the need; this issue is a result of that, and it looks as though we'll be able to get another one out this year as well. A special thank you to the one family who has undertaken the cost of an entire issue!

Not too long ago, I was listening to a discussion of a book entitled Unlocking the Secrets of Your Childhood Memories by Lehman and Carlson. Part of the summary struck me as being apropos to MK's, so I "thought I'd share" (as my daughter says). The book talks about how to deal with childhood memories, but points out that sometimes it's better to let the memories fade unless they are hindering your life in the present. Our past experiences were naturally

I have had a growing conviction over the past few years that there is an aspect of cross cultural living with which we have not dealt but that possibly seen from the perspective of a child. Now if we look at the experiences from an adult point of view, we may be able to understand that our childhood viewpoint was possibly inaccurate. Part of the summary included a simple method of dealing with childhood memories called the ABC method: A = Accept (admit) the lie (inaccuracies) in the memories, B = Believe the truth of what occurred, and C = Change your behavior in accordance with the truth. Changing behavior is a choice. This was only a small segment of the discussion about the book. The whole thing sounded interesting to me. So I thought maybe some of you might be interested in the book as well.

Something else that caught my attention recently was a statement made by an author whose name I do not know. And I'm not quoting has profoundly affected MK's. I am referring to the negative impact on MK's of living among peoples who are steeped in animistic and traditional religions and cultures which routinely practice numerous occultic rites and rituals.

Growing up in Niger and Nigeria, I was not concerned about this at all. I doubt if many of us were! In fact, I may be wrong, but it is my perception that most of our parents were not aware of this danger to their children, or, if they were, they chose not to speak of it openly. Is that because an emphasis was not placed on recognizing and dealing with the seriousness of spiritual warfare? If so, this wasn't always the case. If you read the fascinating stories of some of SIM's pioneers, you will quickly note the head-on clashes they experienced regularly with satanic forces. They had no doubt that they were entering enemy territory!

directly, but it was something like this: "We tend to think of ourselves as earthly beings with a spiritual dimension, but we really need to see ourselves as spiritual beings who are having an earthly experience." What a difference that can make in one's perspective of life! To think of all the spiritual beings "out there," only some of us get to experience life on earth. Thinking of ourselves as spiritual beings helps us to overcome many obstacles; and in fact, isn't that what Scripture promises us? As spiritual beings we can communicate with God and allow Him to be seen in us. He also promises us that we can overcome evil and powers of the air. Physical limitations are only temporary and insignificant in light of the power of the Holy Spirit in our lives. Seeing ourselves as primarily spiritual beings empowers us to be bold in the face of obstacles. I kind of like that perspective!

Well, on to the newsletter. Here's to happy reading!

Cherry (Long) Sabathne - Editor

Did that change? Not really. Although, with the entrance of missions, the practices may not have been so blatant (at least to the white man's eyes), satanic bondage remains deeply embedded in the society. Ephesians 6:12 has always been, and is still, true.

In the post-World War II era, there was a huge missionary thrust into underdeveloped nations gripped for centuries by Satan's power. But by the mightier power of God, SIM became a strong force in Africa, countering profound spiritual darkness and establishing the Church. Most of us reading SIMROOTS grew up in that era. Certainly, it is possible that, without our knowledge or understanding, living in this kind of spiritually evil environment could have adversely affected us.

continued from page one This is something we seriously need to consider. We lived in areas claimed by territorial evil spirits. We regularly observed ritualistic dances and were fascinated and scared by the masked "crazy man," who likely was demon possessed. How often we visited the village marketplaces with our parents and saw fetishes and charms for sale, and even bought them for deputation purposes to wear as unusual "jewelry," or just for "fun." Though girls more often stayed in the confines of the home and compound, older boys usually freely roamed with their African friends, perhaps dabbling in cultural practices they thought were harmless but which may have had occultic bases. There may have been times when we unknowingly drank potions of herbs or medicines that had negative results. Think of the trinkets and artifacts we collected, particularly ugly masks, some of which could have been used in satanic ceremonies. How could we know? We had a fairly flippant attitude about the way the Africans curse each other so readily, not realizing the potential effects and power curses can have. I've heard that there isn't a single Nigerian who hasn't been affected in one way or another by occultic practices, and Nigerian Christians are amazed at our ignorance of such things.

You may think, "But, these things can't affect a child of God, can they?" While I believe that a Christian, indwelt by the Holy Spirit, cannot be demon possessed, I know without a doubt that a Christian can be harassed, pestered, confused, and oppressed by Satan's forces, and often we are totally unaware of what is going on in the spiritual realm. Why else would the Scripture command us to stand firm, put on God's armor, fight, and resist the Devil unless it means that there's warfare all around us? Furthermore, I am convinced that one of Satan's best methods of hindering the effectiveness of ministry is to strike at the children of missionaries!

Consider something else. A lot of us went to K.A. as children. Think about the location of the school. Yes, the compound is secluded from the villages around it, but that whole area was, and still is, a pocket of animism, loaded with witchcraft and occultic practices. Remember that all the Nigerian workers at K.A. (local people) were part of our lives in every area: borm, school, dining hall, laundry, farm, etc. No doubt there were times when a worker became very angry over losing his job, or some other situation, and, to retaliate, bought charms from the local medicine man with which to curse the place or a specific person. It's also possible that articles of clothing, photographs, or other personal belongings were stolen from the dorm and used in rituals or ceremonies in the town. Far fetched? Hardly!

How many of us woke from dreams so terrifying and so real that they affected us for a long time? I wouldn't be surprised if many of us can pinpoint something in our childhood that puzzled or scared us profoundly, and we have never felt free to speak of it. Or perhaps, without the knowledge of our parents, those of us born on the field could have received certain "birth rituals" or had charms put on us that affected our perceptions or attitudes as we grew up.

SIMROOTS

If MK's weren't even aware of the dangers, much less instructed in how to have the victory over them, how could we "resist the devil," as we are commanded to do in James 4:7?

I have often wondered if some of the depressions, anger, confusion, and trouble manifested among us could have their sources in a kind of satanic oppression over which there has never been victory. I don't advocate looking for a "demon under every doily," but I do believe that our background necessitates considering the possibility. If satanic hindrances have stumped our spiritual growth and still linger, there is hope! SIM's motto has always been "By Prayer," and that's the key to victory.

Some people reading this may know without a doubt that there is an incident in their past that is related to the occult. You need to deal with it immediately! Others may not know of specific instances but would like the assurance of knowing there are no lingering effects of having lived in this type of environment. Here are some suggestions:

] Study Ephesians 6:10-18 carefully.

2] In prayer, renounce in the name of Jesus and through His blood, any hold Satan has had on you (or may have had) in the past. Be specific, if you can.

Read some excellent books, such as The Adversary by Mark Bubeck, and The Bondage Breaker by Neil Anderson. There is much written on this subject.
 Surround your children and protect your home with victory praying. Teach your children about spiritual warfare and its significance.

5] Check out those forgotten artifacts stashed away somewhere and burn any of which you are suspicious.
6] If necessary, get help, not from just any Christian counselor or pastor, but from someone who understands the concept of power encounter and knows how to deal with it biblically. If you don't know whom to contact, get in touch with Bob Blaschke at SIM headquarters for suggestions.

7] Pray a "victory prayer" every day, such as the following example given to me by a friend in Nigeria:

"Dear Father, I submit to You and yield to You for this day. I bow to Your will, and invite You to live Your resurrection life and power through me. I can live today as a Christian should only in Yourstrength, Lord. Keep me today.

"Father, I now obey the command of the Bible, Your Word, and resist the Devil and all his demons, and charge him, in Jesus' name and through His precious blood, to leave me, my family, my possessions, and all my interests entirely and absolutely alone; for he is defeated by the victory and death of Jesus on the cross.

"Thank you, Father, for this victory. May I walk in the constant enjoyment of it today, resisting the Devil, and submitting consciously to God at every moment."

My husband, Terry, and I, along with Keith (12) and Stephen (9), are on our way back to Kano, Nigeria, as soon as our re-entry visas are granted. We hope to leave on June 7, 1993. The Nigerian government put a "stay of action" on all missionaries' visas due to the political unsettledness, so our departure date is now in the Lord's hands. In our years in Kano, we have repeatedly experienced God's protection, sometimes in "big" ways! In 1987, after serious riots across northern Nigeria during which many churches were burned, we learned that Terry's name had been on a "death list." We never realized the danger, but God protected our family. In March, 1988, Terry was attacked by two armed robbers trying to steal our car with our boys in it. He fought with them and survived because, miraculously, their guns would not fire. The Nigerians, who know that armed robbers buy all kinds of charms to protect them and help them with their robberies, were stunned by the saving power of God. They said, "You died that day, and God raised you from the dead!" It was cause for great celebration! In October, 1991, when anti-Christian riots broke out in Kano and there were threats to burn down the ECWA compound, Terry and some pastors walked around the compound walls praving that the evil plots of men would be confused and that God would have the victory. Later, when things were calm again, and ECWA had come through almost unscathed, we learned that some Muslim men had come to the compound on several occasions and had seen fires burning on the walls, inhibiting the rioters from entering. The fires were invisible to us, but we had no doubt that the Lord was our protector, and He fought the battle for us.

Prayer is the strong guard against Satan's attempts to hinder SIM's work around the world. I hope each of you is a partner in prayer with SIM. Especially, all the SIM MK's who are now mission-aries would greatly appreciate your prayer support. We need you to pray for our children to be protected from the same danger we experienced. Could we commit ourselves to fight this battle together?

While reading through the SIMROOTS magazine, I noticed that the topic of going to boarding school as young children and its later effects has become quite an issue lately. It is only normal that everyone's experience will vary, and I have seen how the experience of returning to the US has affected my MK friends in a variety of ways, or maybe I should say, how they handle the re-entry experience varies greatly. For some it is very traumatic and difficult to deal with. Others accept it and move on with their lives, while others turn

Some say you can never go back. Well, I did! I have just returned from a trip to Nigeria. It was like a trip back in time. It was filled with both joy and pain, and I highly recommend this journey to any MK who hasn't been back.

I had been sent to Johannesburg on business. For two weeks I was conducting a series of seminars and speeches on current business management issues. While on the continent, I thought I would pop up to Nigeria. Well, it turned out to be not quite as simple as I imagined. Africa is not... shall we say... as organized as I remembered.

I arrived in Lagos. Believe every horror story you hear about the Lagos airport. But with the help of a Coke executive who happened to be on the same flight, Ken and I were escorted to the Sheraton Hotel. Lagos is bigger but just as I remembered leaving it in '68. The next morning, we went to the Niger Challenge Press, my first African home. I went to the very house I lived in, climbed the tree I used to climb, walked the compound, touched everything, smelled the lifestyle, felt every emotion the past allowed me. There were no missionaries there anymore. However, the homes were full of Nigerians. ECWA was now in charge, serving their own, as it should be. "My dad was a printer in that building. I lived in that very house."

I also went to the YABA Guest House. I lived there for a short time as well. As I walked into the main living room, I could swear the furniture and curtains were the same as when I had been there. I know the books on the bookshelf were because I remember reading some of them. Again, time stood still. I was that child again. It is now called the ECWA Guest House. The manager shyly said as we both looked around the room together, "/ guess things have changed, yes?" My reply, "Not so much." SIMROOTS away from the values and Christian faith they grew up with and become rebellious. Many try to find other things or people to blame for the way they feel instead of taking responsibility for their own attitudes.

For everyone, the re-entry experience will be difficult in some way, but I know personally that God gives us strength and comfort as we are uprooted from everything we ever knew, and that HE is able to sustain us during this difficult time if we allow Him to. Today's society is always trying to find a place for "blame." There is no reason to blame anyone or anything for being an MK and the experiences that go along with it. Rather, if we accept it as a gift from God, He can use it for His glory in our lives. I feel privileged to be an MK, and to have gone to boarding school and experienced the good and bad of that situation, and to have been a part of my parents' service for Christ in Nigeria. I believe that parents play an important part in how their children accept boarding school, being an MK, and the re-entry experience. I thank God for my parents, their incredible support of us, and that they lived an example for us as servants for Christ, always seeking God's will for our family.

Whenever I open the mailbox and see SIMROOTS all other mail is put aside. After I have finished reading it I have many fond memories of my past, especially of the special bonds I have with the people I grew up with. It is such a small price to pay if we all contribute to this worthwhile publication. It's great to hear what people are up to. For those of you who have not submitted an update of family news, no time is better than the present.

Attention - Class of 1974!

The next Hillcrest/SIM Reunion will be the perfect time and place to Celebrate Our 20th Class Reunion!

We need everyone there, so make plans to attend July 1st to July 4th, 1994 at the University of North Texas in Denton (North of Dallas), Texas.

The next day, we took a domestic flight to Jos. The deterioration of the country's infrastructure is unbelievable. Ken and I have travelled internationally extensively, in many developing countries, but the terrible conditions in Nigeria were unsurpassed. Jos . . my high school days. Memories: Canteen, Niger Creek, Hillcrest, Carolyn, Toogie, Bill, Elm House ... we all have our own memories, our own joys and pains. Dean and Peggy Hall, the current houseparents took us in for two days. Yes, I actually worked as a missionary houseparent for 1 day. Some of you may find that hard to believe! Things are different there now . a computer, a VCR with scads of videos, a great stereo system, a boat, a four-wheeler (imagine them letting us ride a four-wheeler around Niger Creek compound circle full speed ahead!). Dean and Peggy are terrific and doing a wonderful job at the hostel.

I saw Aunt Betty, the nurse at K. A. when I was there. We sat and chatted at Bingham, which isn't the hospital anymore. "I remember I would be so tired after a long day with all those kids. You ninth grade girls would wait until after study hall to come by the infirmary." I didn't hesitate when I said, "Aunt Betty, did it ever occur to you that we just wanted some attention and love sometimes?"

The toughest journey . . . the Miango visit. The cab ride was as I remembered the VW Van rides on that Miango road. . . hot, dusty, and incredibly rough. As we were arriving, the 5:30 siren blew. My reaction was immediate, time to go get our clothes, and get ready for dinner. Then I caught myself. I'm grown up now, Cheryl, just visiting. I saw Camel Rock, the volcanoes, Mt. Sanderson, etc. I walked through every dorm hall. I sat on what looked to be the same metal bunk bed in my first K. A. room. The rooms are the same, the bathrooms are the same, even some of the beds in the infirmary are the same. Now they allow posters on the walls. My husband saw and experienced things he had heard me talk about for the past 25 years. It was wonderful and excruciating at the same time. I was glad he was there to share it with me.

I saw Bala, the Nigerian who worked in the kitchen with Aunt Linda Klassen. He is still there. I had my picture taken with him. He looks the same, only a little older. I saw the tank, pig pens, the pipe, the grave site where Carol Pullen's father was buried, and the Kirk Memorial Chapel. Even the rabbit pens my dad built the year my parents worked at K. A. were still there, and with rabbits in them! I saw and felt it all again. I saw Linda (Glerum) Crouch. She works there now. We talked and cried together about the old days, and the "now" days. Linda, thanks, for more than you know! I hope you're feeling better.

So, God, we saved some souls, we lost some of our own children in the process. The work is still struggling to go on, the faces are different. Being there as a child, and going back as an adult, I wonder if it's what You had in mind, God? From what I saw on my visit, hopefully we are no longer trying to "save the heathen," but we are working together (black and white and every color between) to create more meaning and love in all of our lives. I wonder, God, what grade would you give the Missionary Report Cards... And to you modern day missionaries, don't forget the emotional needs of your children! Please!

So, I'm back. I slayed some dragons of my past. I faced them again and they didn't overtake me. I am no longer the small lonely, frightened child desperately seeking meaning to what was happening to me then. I am stronger now. I am at peace now. It was good to go back.

GOWANS HOME REUNION

TWO VOICES SIGNAL A NEW BEGINNING by Jo-Ann Brant

by JO-Ann Dian

I'd heard lots of stories about Gowans Home, I'd seen pictures and even met people who had attended there, but I never anticipated the amount of emotion elicited at the reunion.

Two recurring themes from the reunion participants stand out in my mind:

(1) The family theme: The Gowans Home didn't allow one to choose his or her siblings, but many truly grew up together. One woman shared, "One of my funny little revelations (at the reunion) was that at Collingwood, I did belong."

(2) The sorting-out theme: There were tears, apologies, and many memories brought to the surface. Some who grew up there used words like "catharsis" to describe the emotion of this pilgrimage. One said, "We each view the world from the center of our own universe and sometimes our lenses are distorted for whatever reason, each valid in its own way."

Growing up away from Mom and Dad was truly a heavy-duty sacrifice on the part of those who were involuntary conscripts, not volunteers for the task of world evangelism. I was challenged as our thoughts were drawn to the way God's kingdom was expanded through those sacrifices of both the parents and children. I was blessed, however, by one perspective given to the boarding home experience. As the apostle Paul readied himself for his impending execution at the hands of Caeser, he viewed this sacrifice as a willing thank offering which the Jews of the Old Testament gave voluntarily to the Lord. He said, "I am ready to be poured out like a drink offering, and the time has come for my departure" (II Timothy 4:6).

OUR "SACRIFICE"

A NEW PERSPECTIVE ON THE

180 ATTEND THREE DAY EVENT

by Don Harling

The rooms at 200 Oak Street in Collingwood, Ontario were alive with voices. Familiar yet somehow different . . . deeper, fuller, and more mature than those that had echoed in the rooms 30 - 60 years ago. The front stair bannister strained under the weight of adult "kids," those same "kids" who in younger years, much lighter and more agile, had found it convenient to dust the bannister by sliding down it.

The occasion was a reunion of those who called 200 Oak Street "home" during those years it was known as Gowans Home for Missionary Children. The current owner, The National Ski Academy, kindly provided a lunch and allowed the GH'ers free access to the premises.

Memories came flooding in as the rooms were toured ... some pleasant, others heavy with the pain of separations. A lot of reminiscing was verbalized:

"This is the room I slept in. This is where my bed was." "Do you remember when we ... used to flood the garden/tennis courts for a skating rink in the wintertime? ...used to climb the apple trees? ...used to play ball in the playing field?"

But there were some memories almost too painful and private to verbalize:

"This is the closet where I hid to cry when my parents left for their missionary work."

"I can still see the fading headlights as my parents pulled out of the driveway and left for another four years on the mission field."

Even though some of the memories were painful, it was great to be back as adults. One of the GHers expressed the sentiments of most when he exclaimed to his wife, "Honey, they shrunk the home!" What had seemed like a massive old mansion was now just a large Victorian home. Although a couch stood in the ter of the big stair case were a lot bigger, and some even had gray hair! Talk about changes--it all seemed unreal.

As we talked, reminisced, and listened to various ones tell of their experiences, feelings and impressions, I thought back on my time there. How did I feel about it? I remember talking with one of my roommates whom I saw a year after I left Gowans Home, and we both agreed that it wasn't so bad there after all; that even though while there we had said we couldn't wait until we got out of there, we wouldn't mind being back there! Yes, I did like the many hikes we took on our own to Smart's Bush, First Bush, etc. I did like the fun of "hitching sleighs," and ice skating out in the open fields, as well as on our own GH rink. As I think of it now, what I didn't like then was the work we had to do--washing dishes, mowing the lawns, chopping wood But then, how many boys do like to work? I didn't like having to do all that memory work but have seen since then that those passages have stayed with me and influenced my life for good. I don't recall ever really hating the place, nor being resentful or angry with my parents for my being there. I didn't like the separation from them but accepted it as just being part of missionary life, of doing what God wanted us to do.

Yes, there were good times and good things as well as bad, but nothing so bad that in retrospect left bay window of the front room, the minds of the MK's visualized a huge Christmas tree with large gifts underneath... the contents of which could not be examined until they had listened to the Christmas story and the annual speech by the King or Queen of England.

The reunion festivities began on Friday, September 19, with the sharing together of pictures and events. Some of the MK's had not seen each other for over 50 years and, of course, it was interesting to see how age had changed everyone. All introduced themselves and told what years they had been there. There were representatives from each period beginning with the Rice brothers who were the first GH'ers in 1921 to Bill Bishop who left in 1967.

On Saturday there was a tour of the home and that evening everyone met together for a banquet. Some who could not make it for the whole time came just for the banquet. About 180 people attended the banquet, 126 of whom were actual GH residents and staff members. The others were spouses, family and friends who had come to participate in the "roots" of the GH'ers.

On Sunday Dr. Bob Foster recounted God's faithfulness to him and to his parents, directing everyone's thoughts to the past and God's faithfulness to them personally. Dr. Howie Brant spoke of the results of God's faithfulness: A living, vibrant church in Africa (specifically Nigeria), and to the future, a church aggressively seeking to minister beyond the confines of its national borders. He shared that one of the ECWA leaders paid tribute to the sacrifies made by the children so that the church could be established.

Thanks go to all who were involved in planning and organizing the reunion, especially Liz (Forth) Howard and her husband, Eldon. It was a great experience and a time of healing for many.

me resentful for the time there. I realize now that this was in large measure due to the way in which the manner of life and attitudes of my parents influenced me, even though I was not aware of it then.

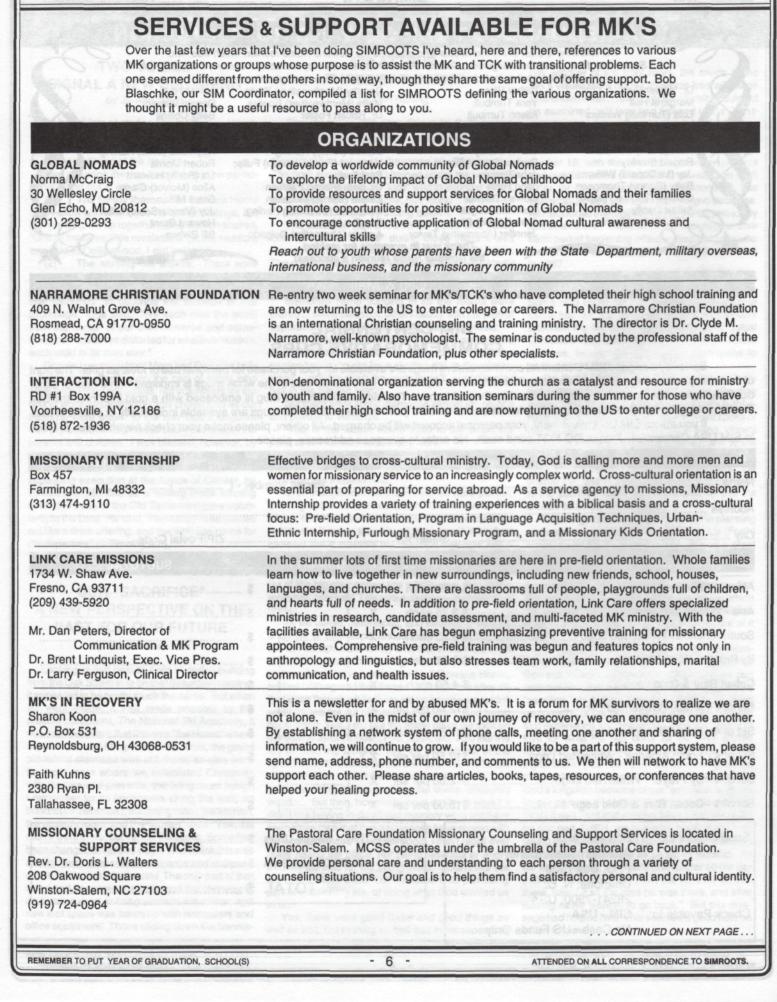

Dr. Howard Brant's message on Sunday morning gave us a good perspective in which to view our Gowans Home experience. He said that we can take our time there and present it to the Lord as a "sacrifice." Not in the sense of suffering by giving up something, but rather as a voluntary act, taking that experience and presenting it to the Lord out of love for what He has done for us. We should recognize that our parents sacrificed much in leaving us there. (I can see that now from being "on the other side of the fence.") Also, many are now in God's kingdom because of our "sacrifice" in giving up our parents and letting them go out to the field. While it was hard and may not have been voluntary on our part THEN, we can look back NOW and, taking that experience as hard as it was, present it NOW to God voluntarily as an act of worship. As we were leaving, we heard one former GH'er say that he "had hated GH from the time he arrived there, hated it all the time he was there, and after leaving never wanted to go back." But this message had helped him. This seemed a good note on which to leave.

HOWARD & JO-ANN BRANT B. A. - '61

They participate with a mission outreach to Ethiopians in the USA, help SIM's new missionary candidates prepare for their new place of ministry; speak in missions conferences, and host and counsel with some of the SIM missionaries. Howard leaves for Africa in June where he will be teaching a course on reaching Muslims in Ethiopia. Their daughter was married last summer and they are both finishing at U. of N.C. this year. Krista is attending the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Judson is a Sophomore in high school.

RUSSEL VAN SCHMIDT B. A. - '61

After nine years with Emmanuel International in Stouffville, Ontario near Toronto, I have answered a request to join the staff at Briercrest School located at Caronport, Saskatchewan. The position is called the "Systems Administrator" and involves looking after their mainframe computer and other computers on campus.

MARY-JO (BECKETT) MEYER K. A. - '64

My son, Gregory (24) is in the Army and is stationed at Fitzsimmons Army Medical Center in Denver, Colorado. My son Jason (23) will be graduating from UCSD in March with a major in Political Science and History. He plans to pursue a law degree. My son Jeff (22) is a senior at San Diego State University with a major in Political Science. I am still working Emergency Dept. and Outpatient Surgery at Pomerado Hospital in Poway, California.

ROLLIE & MARGARET LONG K. A. - '65

Rollie continues the fast pace in the Emergency Department at Bethesda Hospital in Ohio. In October he returned from a successful, exhilarating caribou hunt in Alaska. He camped amidst grizzly bears, hundreds of caribou, and a smattering of moose. His wife, Margaret, is in transition having backed away from volunteerism to examine career opportunities. She had first experiences camping, kayaking, and whale watching in Baja California's Magdalena Bay with Rollie last February and she liked all three experiences very much. They have 2 girls in college and one boy in 7th grade.

ROGER & KAREN (BRIGFIELD) BRUMPTON K. A., H. C. - '67

My husband Roger and I are both working 2 jobs. Roger has a full time job teaching eighth grade science and history as well as pastoring our church. I am teaching second grade and working at home and at the church and will be finishing up a fifth year in education at CSUN this summer. Our church is to the point now where they have a solid core group and can afford a full time pastor. Roger is working with them to find one and we will be moving on. We will have been there three years and have had a wonderful experience in our first pastorate. Roger is looking for a larger church which does not have a bilingual ministry. Our kids are doing well.

Heather is in 2 singing groups, Russell is "Mr. Basketball" and Grant loves baseball.

DAVID & ROSALIE HODGES

K. A., H. C. - '67 Dave, Rosalie and their children, Jordan and Shannon, returned to their home in Edmonton, Canada in August '92 with plans to return to their work in Ethiopia in March '93. They plan to leave Jordan in Canada where he is attending North American Baptist College. Shannon is in grade 10 and attends Rift Valley Academy in Kenya. Dave and Rosalie have taken courses at North American Baptist College/ Seminary for their B. Th. and B. R. E. degrees.

JACK & EDITH (TODD) HOVING K. A., H. C. - '67

Our past year has been full of enjoyable highlights like our trip to Lake Shasta to help in our church's high school summer youth camp. Instead of cabins the campers and counselors stayed in houseboats. We as part of the staff and kitchen crew, stayed in tents at the base camp where all meals and campfire meetings were held. There were many challenges as we figured out how we would cook for approximately 100 people in our outdoor kitchen. In August, the eagerly awaited visit of my mother, sister, Margaret, husband Dick, Jeffery (4) and Kristen (3) Ackley took place. The Ackley family is on furlough from their work in Nigeria. It was great getting reacquainted especially with the little ones. My husband Jack and I have 4 children: Laura, a Senior, Julie, a Junior, Jason, a Freshman and Linda in 8th grade. DAVID (DICK) & BETH MUNTING

K. A. - '67

I am in graduate school again, this time for a Master of Library Science degree. I am now with the New York Public Library as a librarian trainee. I am in charge of Young Adult activities at a branch called Eastchester in the Bronx between Co-op City and the Botanical Garden. In March my wife Beth and I spent 10 days in Florida visiting my mother. In July, we had Mother fly up to Long Island to stay at our weekend place for two weeks. We had a good time. The last weekend, my sister, Madeline - K. A. - '65 joined us from Portland, Maine. I decided to take Mother straight to the Netherlands to visit her brothers and sisters who have been begging for her to come a number of years now. My uncle arranged a seaside condo midway from the Hague to Amsterdam. We saw practically everyone, and both got a lot of pleasure out of it. In August Beth and I went to Ireland for the funeral of her Aunt Katie, last of the direct Irish line in Ireland. She left Beth her 10-acre pasture on a hill overlooking Lough Ross and the Irish Republic. In surveying the land, Beth fell off an old foundation and broke her wrist. She was out of work a month.

RAY & MARCIA DE LA HAYE K. A., ELWA - '69

The K.A. staff waited long for the arrival of Ray and Marcia de la Haye and their 4 children. Their presence in the school meets a great need.

DOROTHY FORSBERG B. A. - '69

Dorothy's Pila friends call her "Guda," a term of endearment in Benin. It means "helper" and her house has many visitors as they come to her for advice and consultation. Dorothy has been preparing for a workshop for three Benin language teams (at Parakou) on I Samuel. In Pila language they have now finished Genesis, as well as drafts to be perfected of Exodus, Kings I and II, Samuel, and Joshua.

FRED & CARLA ZOBRIST K. A., H. C. - '70

After a nice visit with my parents, my sister Heidi and her family, and other friends in the Charlotte area, we flew from Charlotte to Dakar. Our family is happy to be back in Africa, this time at Dakar Academy (D.A.). Senegal and Niger are similar in a number of ways. French is the official language of Senegal. All five of our children are enrolled in D.A. Carla is enjoying her secretarial work in the school office. She is finding her work challenging and rewarding. I am kept busy preparing and teaching my five classes each day. I teach 5th grade Bible, and 5th, 6th, 7th & 8th grade English. My students come from Nigeria, Liberia, Ghana, Cameroon, Pakistan, Bangladesh, Canada and the USA. Recently we were reminded of how fragile life is on this earth. On Wednesday, September 9, the school was closed for the Muslim holiday. The boys' dorm parents, Jerry and Carolene Lund took some children swimming in the Atlantic Ocean. The waves were high that afternoon and the undertow was guite strong. Three of the middle school boys got out a little too far. While assisting them back to the shore Mr. Lund was lost in the waves. It is still not clear whether or not he suffered a heart attack which precipitated his drowning. Fishermen found his body at about noon the next day. Jerry and his wife had arrived in May. Their plan was to serve at D.A., short term, for one year. Carolene's peaceful spirit through this experience has touched many at the school.

ERNEST & JANE HODGES K. A., H. C. - '71

Our family has been in Edmonton, Alberta for about 6 years. My wife Jane is an occupational therapist but for the past eight years has been at home with our children and more recently has been keeping the books for our corporation. We have three girls ages 8, 5, and 2. The two oldest are in French immersion school programs and the youngest starts playschool in the fall. I work ... CONTINUED ON NEXT PAGE...

as an ophthalmologist. I enjoy reading the comments and thoughts of my African peers and will always feel an unusually strong bond with them. This goes beyond the fact that we just went to boarding school together. The continuity of years (without all the mobility of people here), the common backgrounds and values, the minority herd instinct and I'm sure numerous other factors forged close ties. As I frequently review incidents in the light of my MK/ expatriate experience I have the fondest of memories and deep gratitude for those staff who cared for us. Many of my happiest current memories are happy precisely because they duplicate or reflect some of the unique and happy childhood memories of Africa.

DEAN & PEGGY HALL K. A., H. C. - '72

We have accepted a position as hostel parents for Niger Creek Hostel in Jos, Nigeria. We have given this much prayer and thought for nearly 2 months and we feel that this is definitely God's will. We will miss SIMAIR and aviation but have always felt that youth work is a very important ministry as well. Niger Creek Hostel is the facility which will house SIM students attending Hillcrest School in Jos. The school runs grades 1-12 but the hostel kids will be 8th to 11th only (except for Robbie, of course!). Anyway, we will have 15 kids altogether -8 boys and 7 girls. When we made our visa applications (we've been in Niamey, Niger with SIMAIR), we had to fill out the forms in quadruplicate, front and back, no photocopies and no carbons. This was very time consuming as we had 14 people who needed to apply! After we filled everything out, we took them along with all our passports, to the Nigerian Embassy in Niamey, and then began to wait. One week went by then two weeks. We then heard Nigerian visas were not going to be issued for a while. Also, prior to this time, we had sent all our belongings ahead to Nigeria by truck, and we were left without a place to live! What would we do? The Lord sufficiently met our needs as we enjoyed "house sitting" for a friend on leave in the States. But we still waited. Then one day, some of us decided to observe a day of prayer and fasting for this situation. In our house we had six adults praying in one room and seven teenagers praying in another room. It was during this time of continual prayer and diligence to prayer that our visas were granted! We left Niamey July 22 at 4:00 p.m. and drove six hours to Galmi. We rested there and drove the next afternoon to Maradi, then early Friday morning we got up and left for Jos, Nigeria. Little did we know of our "adventures" to come. When we arrived at the border, everything seemed to be going smoothly until we walked up to the custom desk for our car. They told us we had to take our car to the first major town which happened to be Katsina, only 30 miles away. When we got there, they informed us we had to pay the equivalent of $750 U.S. in duty fees. Of course we didn't have that kind of money with us so we had to unpack our ten pieces of luggage, two kids, one cat and one dog out of our car and into a taxi. We took this taxi to Kano only about two hours away where we again had to unload and load everything into another taxi to take us the rest of the way to Jos (four more hours). Finally (after a one-stop prayer time because our driver was a Muslim) we arrived in Jos about 6:30 p. m. just in time for supper with Dean's folks. As we were talking that evening about getting the hostel ready for windows for new bedroom curtains! We were touched and overwhelmed by this outpouring of open-arms welcome. It was very special to us! Our new job now consists of many things: Shopping, coordinating meals for 18 people, being taxi service to 16 kids, building and grounds maintenance, even feeding 47 chickens, 2 turkeys, 1 cat and 1 dog! We are also meeting the kids' needs for study and play as well as our own family needs, and taking care of special needs, especially hard days of homesickness, sleepless nights because of worries or tests, and overall daily attention to any medical needs which arise often with 18 people around!

GREGG & PATTI (BOYCE) BRYCE

K. A., H. C. - '79

They are in La Paz, Bolivia with SIM involved with youth work, evangelism and discipleship. They wrote the following of their children: Stephen (5) is starting to speak Spanish like a native much to our joy and chagrin! Timothy (3) has been nearly struck by a car twice, nearly lost his eye once (due to playing swords with dry pine branches), and landed on his head twice from lofty locations. We thank God for choosing to protect him in all these cases. Abbie (9 mos.) has a ready smile for almost everyone. She is a Mommy's baby, which is a switch from the boys.

Marion is teaching first grade in a public school in Oregon. She is also involved with the young peoples' program in her church.

Tim and Dianne have had a very challenging year. Their third child, Kristin (almost 1 year old), came down with a rare illness which caused her body to shut down. Tim and Dianne almost lost her several times. When she was discharged from the hospital the prognosis was not good neurologically; however, they have seen Kristin slowly respond. She is to have surgery in February to correct her hip and ankle. Please pray also that she will be . . . CONTINUED ON NEXT PAGE . . .

from Moody Bible Institute. It is wonderful to have completed this long-term goal! Scott is busy with a family, school and work. They returned to Charlotte so he could continue studying at a local college and finish a degree in Graphic Arts Management. He was able to get a job at the same printing company he worked with before going overseas. We welcomed our new baby, Heather, in August. Robert (14 months) is as fascinated by her as we are!

MARK & TIA STILWELL

My wife, Tia, and I live in sunny Vero Beach, Florida along with our two wonderful children, Zachary (4) and Kelsey (2). The past few years I have been managing commercial properties and condominiums. Tia works at a local country club and is pursuing accounting in school. MARK & ANNE OSTROWIEZ B. A. - '81

My sister Janet - B. A. - '83 and I both attended Bingham Academy. Janet is an architect at present designing for London Bible College. She does a lot of discipling of new Christians. She visited India last year and is still unsure of what God has for her long-term. My husband Mark and I have a 1-year-old, Jessica, and have lived in inner-city Birmingham, England now for 5 years. We belong to a large church and our own real concern is for our many Muslim and Sikh neighbors — not an easy task! Mark teaches math in a local school and I teach Religious Education (compulsory in all British schools) in the same school part-time.

TOM WILLIAMS - K. A. - '88

Tom (pictured above) plans to earn a Master's in Bioengineering or Biomedical Engineering and then work for an engineering firm to gain experience and save travel money. Then he'd like to go to Ethiopia, South America or India and become involved in building projects.

DAVID & AMY (RIDEOUT) HORROCKS K. A., H. C. - '89

May, 1992 with his BSE in Mechanical Engineering and is currently working as a computer consultant providing computer systems for people with disabilities so that they can get a job or go to school. He is also attending Westminster Theological Seminary part-time for his M. Div. and will eventually go full time when that is financially possible. Meanwhile, I will graduate this May, 1993 with my BSN for Nursing. I am also working parttime at the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia and have been offered a full time job there after I graduate. Concurrently I am working on my MSN in Nursing of Children, Acute/Chronic Care. I plan to finish up this degree part-time while I work full time. Besides this, we are busy with Bible studies and the like at Tenth Presbyterian Church in downtown Philadelphia which we have attended for the last four-five years. We do not know where the Lord will take us once David finishes seminary (which is several years away) but are open to wherever He may lead us. My parents, who served with SIM in Nigeria for 18 years, are living in Wellesley, Mass, with my three younger brothers who also all attended K.A. Drew is a Sophomore at M.I.T. in Boston, majoring in Biology for pre-med. He plans to specialize in a field of surgery. Ian will graduate from high school this June, 1993, and will be attending Moody Bible Institute in September for their aviation program. He plans to go into missions once he finishes there. Kevin is a sophomore in high school and is very involved in the church youth group and wrestling on the school team. He and lan spent their spring break in Venezuela last April, 1992 on a missions project.

teens struggle with problems at least partly related to academics or the lack thereof. In our church and related community I'm working with varied needs that range from teaching an adult beginning reading to coaching high school algebra. Probably the hardest and yet most rewarding job is working with a kids' club on Wednesday evenings and a Jr. High girls' Sunday School class. Although these kids have advantages that our African children could never dream of, their social, emotional and spiritual needs are often greater. A simple fracture of my left arm has resulted in months of physiotherapy here in Edmonton, Alberta. It takes up the mornings, but I enjoy the afternoons helping where I can.

JOHN & GLADYS (ERICKSON) REIMER

Staff - K. A.

I was married in '75, home for 10 years, then my husband John retired in '85. Since then we have had three short terms in Niger, Liberia, and Benin. We returned from Niger December 22 and the next week we left for the Bahamas, where our son Dave and his family are serving under GMW. We have worked there several times for 3-12 months before and between our Africa "tours." John does building and general maintenance of which there is no end wherever we go. I am a teacher, but also find myself doing a variety of other things.

FRED & GWEN (KELSALL) HALSE

Staff - K. A.

We left Miango in mid-June. We enjoyed a visit to Sebring, spent time with various relatives, and have brought reports in several meetings. There may be a possibility that we can go to Korea for a 3-month term to help their missionaries with basic English. The Korean churches are alive and keen to send out committed missionaries, but they must first learn English. We are enrolled at the University of Toronto to take a course in teaching English as a second language. It starts the end of January for 3 months, 3 days a week.

Although they are a close family and stay in touch individually, the Segers and their children have not been together in one place for 26 years. 'It's pretty wonderful,' Lionel said before posing for a family portrait with his wife, three children and their spouses, and eight grandchildren. ... With one daughter in Michigan (Karen - K. A., H. C. - '72) another in San Diego (Grace Anne - K. A., H. C. - '67) and a son (Paul -K.A., H.C. - '69) in South Africa, they were unable to arrange a furlough that would have allowed a family reunion. But after a year of planning, all the family members were able to sit down for dinner Monday for the first time in more than two decades. . .

. 'It's good to have whatever family you can around but to have all your family is great,' said Grace Swanson, their daughter from San Diego. . . . Christmas in Africa was a quiet time for the Segers, who gave candy and new clothes for presents. Some people in their village of Gadaka followed a pagan religion that worshiped trees, so the family thought it would be too confusing to their converts if they decorated a tree in their house in celebration of a Christian holiday. But as the years went by and more of the villagers began to understand Christianity, the Segers were able to put up some decorations at Christmas. 'My favorite Christmas was when we had a thorn tree to decorate,' said daughter, Karen Keegan, The tree had no leaves but was decorated with popcorn and paper.
